Appearing for the Pavan will be Mark Rowan, James Carroll and Thomas Belton. Last week's folk concerts were really good despite some technical difficulties. Perhaps the microphone jinx will end this week.

JUNIOR ELECTIONS....The sophomores went to the polls last week and this week it's the juniors who will pick their leaders for next year. The candidates will meet in debates from 1 P.M. to 3 P.M. Wednesday and balloting will be held all day Thursday.

CALLING ALL FRESHMEN....The Class of 1975 will hold a meeting at noon Wednesday in Pope 110. There's still time for teachers and administrators to sign up for the basketball game the class is sponsoring in mid-April. CARDINAL ON THE CHURCH....Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens will be speaking at the Church of Saint Paul, Columbus Avenue (Ninth Avenue), between West 59th and 60th Sts, Manhattan, at 3:30 P.M. Sunday and students interested in hearing him can pick up tickets at Miss Chryst's office. His topic will be "Toward Tomorrow's Church".

SPECIAL LECTURE....The trustees took over classes at Elizabeth Seton College last week as part of Trustees Day on the Campus. And Dr. Lawrence R. Malnig, SPC's director of counseling who serves on the board there, had an SRO crowd for his lecture. His topic: "The Psychological Aspects of Sexual Relating".

SHOW STOPPER....If you didn't see Death of a Salesman over the weekend be sure to catch it this Friday or Saturday. And a personal note to Bob O'Hare, Mike Chelik and all our friends in the Argus Eyes: The PR office may have really blown it on the name of the playwright, but at least we can spell Dinneen.

A REMINDER....Cross Keys applications are available at the dean of students and Student Senate offices.
